

HONOR DEFENDED by D.H. BROWN

A CITIZEN WARRIOR NOVEL

Multiple award winning author D. H. BROWN continues the action packed adventures of Major Westfall in HONOR DEFENDED. In Book II of the Citizen Warrior series, the Major finds his beloved Pacific Northwest rainforest invaded.

The War on Terrorism slithers into the Major's neck of the woods when a brother officer, home on leave from Iraq, is beheaded and his wife abducted by terrorists planning attacks on his beloved America.

Major Westfall is awakened before dawn one freezing late winter Saturday by a frantic call from an old friend and War Brother. Already in bad mood, he sets out to hunt for those who burnt a woman's house on the Strait of Juan de Fuca, abducted her, and left behind the beheaded body of her Marine husband.

After finding sign of someone coming ashore on the last high tide on the beach behind the family's home, he puts his ear to the Hoko grapevine and hears of a break-in where explosives were taken. A neighbor's grandchild mentions a missing school janitor, and the nickname the kids gave him, Aladdin. When the Major takes a sneak and peek he unearths a terrorist sleeper. Once again the cry of war comes calling to this citizen warrior.

Calling in the troops, he prepares to do battle deep in the Olympic Peninsula wilderness where a cadre of the evil ones have gathered, intent on creating havoc with Washington State's ferries.

HONOR DEFENDED occurs over one 24 hour period of heart-pounding, breath-stopping action in which old friends are met, new ones made, the young must grow up fast as lives are broken, and the honor of a War Brother and his family is defended.

D. H. BROWN has worked as a Logistics and Weapons Specialist in Vietnam; day laborer; Director of Security; Armored Car Driver; Police Officer; Professional Hunting Guide; Trapper; Dog Sledder; Homesteader; Truck Driver; General Contractor; Minister; Editor; Writer; Speaker; Restaurateur; Movie Producer; Antique Restoration Specialist; PC Repair Specialist; Computer Instructor; Webmaster and Web Designer. He writes about what he knows.

D. H. BROWN lives a life of solitude deep in the Pacific Northwest rainforest with his wife and the spirit of Buddy Dog, working on his next book. People who bother him end up in one of his books, dead.

The authors website can be seen at <http://www.dhbrownbooks.com>.

VITAL INFORMATION

TITLE: HONOR DEFENDED
AUTHOR: D. H. BROWN
PUBLISHER: BIG RIVER PRESS
GENRE: Action/Mystery/Thriller
PUBLISHED: January 2009

MEDIA CONTACT:

Big River Press
P. O. Box 371, Clallam Bay, WA 98326
360-963-3112
business@bigriverpress.com
<http://www.bigriverpress.com>

HARDCOVER

ISBN-13: 978-0-9798744-5-1
ISBN-10: 0-9798744-5-9
Price: $22.95 US
Binding: 6" X 9" Cloth Bound w/Jacket
Pages: 304

TRADE PAPERBACK

ISBN-13: 978-0-9798744-6-8
ISBN-10: 0-9798744-6-7
Price: $14.95 US
Binding: 6" X 9" Perfect Bound
Pages: 308